

Monthly Bookkeeping Checklist For Small Business Owners

Weekly Tasks

Upload or save receipts

Keep receipts organized as you go instead of trying to find everything later.

Review recent transactions

Look through bank and credit card activity for anything missing, duplicated, or unusual.

Separate business and personal expenses

Avoid mixing purchases whenever possible. It makes bookkeeping and tax prep much cleaner.

Send invoices and track payments

Check for unpaid invoices or overdue customer payments.

Record cash expenses

Make sure cash purchases or reimbursements are documented.

End of Month Tasks

Categorize transactions

Make sure income and expenses are sorted into the correct categories in QuickBooks.

Reconcile bank accounts

Compare QuickBooks transactions with bank and credit card statements to catch missing or incorrect entries.

Review income and expenses

Look over monthly totals to see:

- how much came in
- where money was spent
- any unusual increases in expenses

Review outstanding invoices

Follow up on unpaid customer invoices.

Save important documents

Keep copies of:

- receipts
- bills
- loan statements
- payroll reports
- tax documents

Review subscriptions and recurring expenses

Check for charges you forgot about or no longer use.

Back up important financial records

Store copies digitally in a secure folder or cloud storage.

Quarterly Tasks

Review profit and spending trends

Look for:

- busy seasons
- slow months
- rising expenses
- cash flow issues

Set aside money for taxes

Review income and estimate tax savings if needed.

Check contractor payments

Make sure contractor records and payment totals are accurate.

Before Tax Season

Organize receipts and documents

Gather:

- expense records
- mileage logs
- bank statements
- payroll reports
- contractor information

Review bookkeeping accuracy

Make sure transactions are categorized correctly before sending reports to your accountant or CPA.

Gather financial reports

Prepare:

- Profit & Loss report
- Balance Sheet
- other requested reports
